

ORGANIZATION

Network of Communications, Liaison, and Cooperation

Global Praxis Board

A practical and advisory network of world-renowned figures to work with GSC (e.g., UN Secretary-General, NGO representatives, and prominent figures and scholars from Korea and abroad)

Advisory Committee

An advisory group of social service experts in government agencies, NGOs, the media, etc.

Consultation Committee

A consultative body composed of university offices, faculty representatives, and the Kyung Hee medical schools and hospitals (Vice President, Chair of the Faculty Council, Chair of the Labor Union, a student representative, Rector and deans of Humanities College, Director-General of the Medical Center and directors of affiliated hospitals, etc.)

Steering Committee

A group of representatives from five areas: domestic, international, medical, academic research, and public relations

GSC Secretariat

The office in charge of GSC's administrative tasks

GSC Volunteers

Various volunteer teams based on individual programs, main areas of focus, organizations, members, etc.

Love for Humans, Peace to All Humankind

Kyung Hee University

Global Service Corps (GSC)

Show the Flag!

Show the flag that all may see
That you serve humanity
Show the flag and let it fly,
Cheering every passer-by.
Men that may have stepped aside,
May have lost their old-time pride,
May behold it there, and then,
Consecrate themselves again.

Edgar A. Guest

KYUNG HEE GLOBAL SERVICE CORPS

Tel: +82-2-961-0673 Homepage: <http://khgsc.khu.ac.kr> E-Mail: khgsc@khu.ac.kr
Facebook: www.facebook.com/globalservicecorps Twitter: twitter.com/khgsc
#615 College of Human Ecology, Kyunghee-daero 26, Dongdaemun-gu, Seoul, Republic of Korea

GLOBAL SERVICE

Why Global Service?

Kyung Hee University is paving the way to a new stage of intellectual social responsibility. Since its founding, Kyung Hee has engaged in public service and is now seeking to sublimate the university's accumulated educational and research capacity into a creative and dynamic energy for the future of global society. Kyung Hee's global service begins with "Scholarship and Peace," the long tradition and vision of Kyung Hee.

While fostering individuals to lead society in the future, a university must constantly create universal values that lead to the construction of a sustainable human civilization. If a university settles for the ivory tower far from reality, the university is denying its identity. The moment a university loses its ability to communicate with the world, the future of humanity becomes unrealizable. A university takes on its true image when it cultivates a heart of compassion, empathy, peace, and co-prosperity, and actively practices sharing and dedication for a better world.

Kyung Hee Global Service Corps is taking its first step to suggest a new paradigm of global praxis for higher educational institutions to create the future of universities and the future of humanity.

"Universities in these days face a new challenge. They must go beyond the ivory tower to narrow the gap between destitution and affluence, alienation and tolerance, and suffering and compassion. They must also open 'a new intellectual space for reflective humans' while leading the way to deep scholarly pursuit and dialogue with an open universe. The harmonious bonding of academe and global practice as well as each individual's 'transcendental engagement' should lie at the heart of all such endeavors."

President Inwon Choue, Kyung Hee University
In his keynote speech at the UNAI-Kyung Hee International Symposium (2011)

KYUNG HEE GLOBAL SERVICE CORPS

Love for Humanity and Public Service

A Model of Global Praxis for "Sharing and Dedication"
A New Paradigm of Social Service with a Creative Integration of Education, Research, and Practice

Kyung Hee Global Service Corps (GSC) is a global service organization at the pan-university level.

Intellectual social responsibility is maximized when it is able to creatively integrate education and research with practice programs. Kyung Hee seeks to continuously and systematically fulfill the global responsibility of a university by constructing a social service network that puts learning into practice

Universities should pursue humanitarian and global values

Historically, the basic principles of a university are research, education, and social service. For years, we have been told that a university, as "a hall of truth," should pursue and practice humanitarian and global values. Concerns about global aporia and dedication to the socially weak are central to intellectual social responsibility and are the reasons for its existence.

GSC introduces a new paradigm for intellectual social responsibility

Kyung Hee's social service is different. It will contribute to realizing the "peace of the future" through social service programs that creatively integrate education, research, and practice. Kyung Hee's global service will not just be limited to basic volunteer work; instead it will introduce a new level of social service only possible by a university as an institution of higher education.

FOUNDING IDEALS

Kyung Hee's History and Social Service

Kyung Hee's founding ideal is one of "Creating a Civilized World." In the heart of a civilized world lies Kyung Hee's tradition of "Scholarship and Peace." As a "hall of scholarship," Kyung Hee has made every effort for education and research. In addition, as a "hall of peace," it has faithfully fulfilled its social responsibility to realize the co-existence and co-prosperity of human society.

Since the early 1950s when the concept of democracy was barely understood, Kyung Hee pushed forward with its spirit of "Creative Efforts, Progressive Spirits, and Productive Cooperation," based on its educational philosophy of "Democratization of School, Democratization of Thought, and Democratization of Living." While educating and cultivating well-rounded humans to lead a peaceful society, Kyung Hee has continually carried out its research, education, and public practice to realize global peace.

Kyung Hee's social service has evolved and developed over time in response to the needs of society. Its future social service will also be expanded and intensified in line with new transformations in the history of human civilization.

1950 s Rural Enlightenment Movement	1960 s Better Life Movement	1970 s Restoration of Humanity and the Global Common Society Movement	1980 s Contributions to World Peace	1990 s Neo-Renaissance Movement	2000 s Future Peace Movement
---	---------------------------------------	---	---	---	--

VISION, VALUES, AND PRINCIPLES

Deeper Love, More Peaceful Civilization

Vision

"Love for Humans, Peace for Humanity"

Values

"Responsibility for a better human" / "Responsibility for a brighter society"
"Responsibility for a more open history" / "Responsibility for a more peaceful civilization"

Principles

- Principle of Voluntarism and Sustainability
- Principle of Reciprocity
- Principle of Global Citizenship
- Principle of Creative Integration of Education, Research, and Practice
- Principle of Interconnectivity between Major Fields of Study and Interdisciplinary Integration

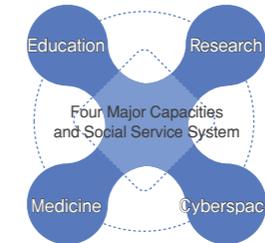

PROGRAM

Sectors of Practice: Creation, Sharing and Communication

GSC aims to develop and run new social and global service programs that are not only possible by institutions of higher education but also transcend the boundaries of the university. In so doing, Kyung Hee will fully utilize its intellectual assets and capacities.

Global Service Education Program

Establish a creative convergence of the university's educational capacity and social service

Global Medical Service

Realize a disease-free human society through a cooperative medical volunteer system between the university hospital and medical sector

Global Service Research Network

Create an academic network centered on the university's research capacity to reflect on global issues

Cyber Global Service Network

Seek ways for global communication and cooperation by utilizing online means such as Kyung Hee Cyber University and GSN

Kyung Hee's social service starts from "creation" to explore the awareness of global issues, "sharing" to put ideas into practice, and "communication" to establish a global network.

By establishing a mutually-connected system among these sectors, various social service programs will be developed to solve global issues such as development (poverty and hunger), human rights, culture, medicine (disease), education, and environment.

